

20 RAMIFICATIONS OF FUTURE WAR

ARMAGEDDON

It is coming; there is nothing that can be done to stop it. It will occur just as this prophetic Intel unveils. Armageddon is not a contemporary thought; it's not something that someone brought up because of past wars, Armageddon is an old conception that finds its origins in the ancient past and is a plot that will be fiercely forced into the minds, hearts and dreams of millions.

We will look over 17 ramifications of what is revealed as the mother of all wars, the final war in fallen human history and the ultimate goal of dark spiritual power. We will see that it's rooted in the past, spiritually conceived and has been developing in an incremental, spiritually empoweredevolutionarily way.

By knowing its origins, reasons and how it will go down.....in the future, you should be able to see its development, guard yourself and others from it andthe bottom line is to make sure you're not on the ground looking up as a deceived participant of this hell bound dream

The ramifications of R1919 are:

WORD OF HOPE FOR TODAY:

Daniel 2;44-

“In the time of those kings, the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that will never be destroyed, nor will it be left to another people. It will crush all those kingdoms and bring them to an end, but it will itself endure forever. This is the meaning of the vision of the rock cut out of a mountain, but not by human hands—a rock that broke the iron, the bronze, the clay, the silver and the gold to pieces.

“The great God has shown the king what will take place in the future. The dream is true and the interpretation is trustworthy.”

THE END OF FALLEN HUMAN HISTORY

INTRO-

'Everyone wants to go to heaven but nobody wants to die'..HC 'Getting older is no problem. You just have to live long enough'. G marcs

Something is indeed happening. We sense it. We feel it. We know things in our world are changing, and not for the better. Since the September 11, 2001 attacks on America and the financial tsunami that became public on September 17, 2008, our personal anxiety levels have increased significantly. Our bookstores reflect these perceptions. The End of Prosperity (Laffer, Moore & Tanous, Threshold Editions, 2008), The End of Wall Street (As We Know It) (Dave Kansas/Wall Street Journal, Collins Business, 2009), and The End of Food (Paul Roberts, Mariner Books, 2009) all are views of a new and different world in which we will likely live. What these and other similar books, columns and commentaries are describing pale in significance, though, to what Biblical prophecies tell us will happen to cause The End of America.

Price, John (2011-05-15). The End of America - The Role of Islam in the End Times and Biblical Warnings to Flee America

END TIMES.... How can we know from prophecy that we are actually in the end times? It's a question of considerable urgency, as Jesus demonstrated by weeping when He came into Jerusalem to present Himself, unsuccessfully, as Israel's Messiah. He wept because Israel ignored the prophecies that should have led to His acceptance: "As he approached Jerusalem and saw the city, he wept over it and said, "If you, even you, had only on this day what would bring you peace—but now it is hidden from your eyes. The days will come upon you when your enemies will build an embankment against you and encircle you and hem you in on every side. They will dash you to the ground, you and the children within your walls. They will not leave one stone on another, because you did not recognize the time of God's coming to you." (Luke 19:41-44) Likewise, for centuries, scriptures prophesying that the sovereign nation of Israel would some Transhumanist ...

The latest incarnation of man's rebellion against God is the trans humanist movement. Many within the movement believe the singularity will lead to the emergence of "post-biological humans" who are able to shed their biological bodies and "upgrade their hardware." Others believe that by downloading themselves into a network, they will effectively become "immortal." True believers have modified their diets, exercise regimens, and entire lifestyle in an effort to increase the likelihood of living to witness human reversal of the aging process and eventual human "immortality."

Ray Kurzweil – inventor, author, and transhumanist – is considered one of the best in the world at accurately forecasting short-term and intermediate technological trends. In Chapter 7 of his bestselling book "The Singularity is Near: When Humans Transcend Biology," he describes his view of the ultimate outcome of our technological advance:

"The matter and energy in our vicinity will become infused with the intelligence, knowledge, creativity, beauty, and emotional intelligence (the ability to love, for example) of our human-machine civilization. Our civilization will then expand outward, turning all the dumb matter and energy we encounter into sublimely intelligent – transcendent – matter and energy. So in a sense, we can say the Singularity will ultimately infuse the universe with spirit."

According to Kurzweil, the universe will be infused with "spirit" as a result of the natural advance of our human-machine civilization. This infers that the universe is not already infused with "spirit," and that if God exists, His designs are inferior to those that will be created by the predicted human-machine civilization. Transhumanism and the Great Rebellion by Britt Gillette

Anita Silvers

Imagine a world with no disease, no ageing, no pain – a world where you might even live forever. That is the vision of transhumanism, a relatively new movement inspired by the belief that science can be harnessed to alter the human condition and allow us to transcend our biological limits.

Advances in medicine and bioengineering, argue the transhumanists, will be able to do more than assist patients to function normally. Some may have the potential to catapult us into a new kind of being.

Though the term was coined by biologist Julian Huxley back in the late 50s, transhumanism as an organised movement is just a quarter-century old, conceived by a group of Californian academics, inventors, entrepreneurs and artists committed to the idea of engineering an improved human race. In opposition to those who are cautious about the rapid advance in science, fearing unforeseen consequences of unfettered innovation, they are all in favour of effecting radical changes in humankind, or, in the words of the WTA, the World Transhumanist Association, "redesigning the human condition".

The WTA, founded less than a decade ago, is led from the UK and US, with strong affiliations in Canada, continental Europe, Latin America and Asia. There is even a Mormon Transhumanist Association whose members believe that transhumanism provides the means of realising "diverse prophetic visions of transfiguration, immortality, resurrection, renewal of this world, and the discovery and creation of worlds without end".

Transhumanists are not the only ones to speculate along these lines. Four years ago, for instance, the US National Science Foundation (NSF) issued a thick report, 'Converging Technologies for Improving Human Performance', proposing vigorous application of nanotechnology, biotechnology, information technology and cognitive science to enhance individual sensory and cognitive capabilities, revolutionise healthcare and disabled people's lives, improve individual and group creativity, perfect human-machine interfaces, provide for brain-to-brain communication, and ameliorate "the physical and cognitive decline that is common to the aging mind". The report also explored the new technology's potential to "improve work and learning efficiency" and "enhance human capabilities for defense purposes". But while this NSF report focused on the practicalities of achieving the best results, transhumanism is devoted to the more evangelical task of convincing people of the benefits of pursuing such results. Their method is more often to assert than to argue.

The Transhumanist Declaration, produced by the WTA in 2002, for example, asserts that we are on the brink of radical change of human life through technology, and forecasts "changes in the inevitability of aging, limitations on human and artificial intellects, unchosen psychology, suffering, and our confinement to the planet earth".

Does science, new ageism, the alien agenda etc.. Take into account ...radical evil?? Rd

The end is coming because of the 'unceasing nature and agenda of radical evil' the end is coming because of the godness and compassion of God Rd

 - i) God will expose and end satan and demonic rights...1000 then eternity

Consider these facts from a U.S. News & World Report poll in 1997: • Sixty-six percent of Americans, including a third of those who admit they never attend church, say they believe Jesus Christ will return to earth someday. This is an increase from 61 percent in 1994. • Nearly six in ten Americans believe that the world will end or be destroyed, and a third of those think it will happen within the next few years or decades. • Forty-four percent believe the world will face the apocalypse with true believers being whisked away to heaven. • Forty-nine percent believe there will be an Antichrist. In a more recent survey, 20 percent of Americans said they believe the Second Coming will occur sometime around the year 2000 (Dallas Morning News, 10/24/98, p. 24A). However, while the majority of people believe in the second coming of Christ, the apocalypse, the Antichrist, and the end of the world, Bible prophecy remains a confusing, frustrating, even bewildering morass of differing views, strange symbols, confusing charts, and bizarre visions. For far too many people, Bible prophecy remains shrouded in mystery and irrelevance.

1 According to the calculations of J. Barton Payne (Encyclopedia of Bible Prophecy. New York: Harper and Row, 1973, pp. 631-82), there are 8,352 verses (out of a total of 31,124 for the whole Bible) that contain predictive material. This means that 27 percent of the Bible is prophecy. In the Old Testament, 6,641 out of 23,210 verses contain predictive material (28.5 percent), while 1,711 of the New Testament's 7,914 verses include predictive material (21.5 percent). These verses discuss 737 separate prophetic topics.

EVIDENCE OF GOD'S PERFECTION AND POWER

Introduction

The Idol of Energy (Atoms in Space and Time)

With the mushroom cloud has come not only a concern about the future of humanity, but also a preoccupation with energy. People in a desperate quest for lasting meaning think that their ultimate concern has to do with the finite energy of the universe. Then, with energy as their ultimate object of trust, they attribute divine qualities to it. The energy of the cosmos, rather than God, has come to be regarded as self-existent. From early ideas that energy was "a force," scientists began to think of it rather as "capability to do work." Then science discovered the interconvertibility of energy with matter ($E = MC^2$) and the conservation of the sum total. From this, the philosopher of science M. Jammer leaps to belief in "the emancipation of energy as an autonomous existent." In place of an autonomous God, Jammer worships and serves "autonomous energy." Following Ostwald, not only has energy become the universal currency of physics, but "all the phenomena of nature were merely manifestations of energy and its manifold transformations." Energy, Jammer maintains, is substance, and "the only substance."⁶² This "dissolution of matter" into energy was welcomed by monistic thinkers because it suggested a unified conception of the universe with energy as the ubiquitous god. New Consciousness and New Age thinkers with Paul Davies in God and the New Physics claim that the end result of the new physics is "more like mysticism than materialism."⁶³ Davies remarks about the "strong holistic flavour to the quantum aspects of the nature of matter" with "everything somehow made up of everything else and yet displaying a hierarchy of structure."⁶⁴ "The Force" is not just for children at the movies. Forms of monism, pantheism, or panentheism underlie many new religious trends in human potential, new consciousness, altered states of consciousness, and the occult. If the inner energy of all humans is divine, then all have infinite potential and anyone may evolve to the next stage in cultural or religious evolution (often imagined to be like an avatar or god). All people are thought to be "spiritually" connected by this energy. Illness is considered an imbalance of energy, a by-product of an unenlightened consciousness. If you will only "eat" of this theory, as the Deceiver said to Eve and Adam, "you will be like God" (Gen. 3:4). Valuable as modern physical discoveries have been, the energy of the universe is not the unlimited, personal God of the Bible: (1) Energy loses its usefulness, God does not. (2) The energy of the universe had a beginning and will have an end; God does not. (3) The energy of the universe is impersonal; God is personal. (4) The energy of the universe is amoral; God is moral. (5) The energy of the universe can be manipulated by human engineering; God will not be manipulated by physicists or mediums. God alone sovereignly rules over all the finite energy in the cosmos. The cosmos is not "all that ever was or ever will be." Sagan exclaims, "Passage from the Chaos of the Big Bang to the Cosmos that we are beginning to know is the most awesome transformation of matter and energy that we have been privileged to glimpse."⁶⁵ But that awesome transformation of energy cannot compare with power of the Word of the living Lord who spoke energy-matter into existence and sustains Zondervan; Gordon R. Lewis; Bruce A. Demarest (2010-09-07). Integrative Theology (Kindle Locations 4861-4889). Zondervan. Kindle Edition.

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. 2The same was in the beginning with God. 3All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made. 4In him was life; and the life was the light of men. 5And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not. 14And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth.

WORD OF HOPE FOR TODAY

HOLY HOLY HOLY

Holy, holy, holy! Lord God Almighty!
Early in the morning our song shall rise to thee.
Holy, holy, holy! Merciful and mighty,
God in three persons, blessed Trinity!

Holy, holy, holy! All the saints adore thee,
casting down their golden crowns around the glassy sea;
cherubim and seraphim falling down before thee,
which wert, and art, and evermore shalt be.

Holy, holy, holy! Though the darkness hide thee, though the eye of sinful man thy glory may not see,
only thou art holy; there is none beside thee,
perfect in power, in love and purity.

Holy, holy, holy! Lord God Almighty!
All thy works shall praise thy name, in earth and sky and sea.
Holy, holy, holy! Merciful and mighty,
God in three persons, blessed Trinity.
